The NBT Prep App V.1 was designed to help learners, parents and educators to:

1. Understand NBT requirements for admission at South African Universities
2. Benchmark their readiness for the test via a free quiz that then references against their identified requirements

Since UCT has the most sophisticated framework around NBT requirements, the app in its initial version is focussed on UCT's admission requirements relative to the NBT. Other university requirements are aimed to be launched in subsequent versions.

Via this app or any of its portals, Advantage Learn does not claim to be a representative of UCT or the Centre for Educational Assessments who manage and administrate the National Benchmark Test Project. The same is true for any other universities. The app is formulated around publicly available admissions information via University applications channels. While Advantage Learn endeavours to keep the application as up-to-date as possible, we cannot guarantee that the NBT requirements advised via the application are 100% accurate and current. Users must refer directly to the tertiary institutions that they are applying towards in order to confirm their requirements. The app is designed to guide learners, parents and educators and not to give conclusive advice.

By using this app and agreeing to the terms and conditions, users are consenting to one communication from Advantage Learn after they have registered on the app. This applies even if users have not opted into the Advantage Learn mailing list but only for a single communication. If users opt into the Advantage Learn mailing list then they will be added to this mailing list and included in it until such time as they unsubscribe.
